Blood Debt

It was the day of November 5, a rainy day, many people were on a funeral, "Daddy, what happened with grandpa?" asked a tearful ten year old boy, "The bogeyman got him" answered his father, "The bogeyman exists?" asked the boy, "Yes Brian, he exists, and I won't stop until I kill him", said the man with rage "You cannot kill the bogeyman", answered the boy, "That is what everyone says, I will prove them they are wrong", said the father "If he gets you?" asked the boy, "He will fight me, and I will not give him a chance".

That man was David Loomis, he was the son of Dr. Sam Loomis, who days ago, on Halloween night, was stabbed to death by his nemesis, Michael Myers.

"David, let's go", said his wife, "No, Mariah, let me here just a little time" said David, "Ok, I will wait you in the car". David went to his father's grave, kneeled and said with tears "Sorry for thinking you was exaggerating, now I think that in fact Michael Myers is the devil himself, and I swear for your memory, I will finish the job you began thirty two years ago, the day the six year old monster was assigned to you, I swear it, or I will die trying to do it" said David, and went to his going home he was thinking, "I promise dad, I promise Michael will not resist, and the baby you died trying to save, I promise he will be safe".
